Sadin Institute on Law Public Policy of the Brookdale Center for Healthy Aging and Longevity Hunter College, Annette Levinson Kasle : New York Elder Law Handbook before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised New York Elder Law Handbook:

Thousands of advocates for older, blind, and disabled New York State residents rely on PLI's New York Elder Law for useful, authoritative guidance on the legal issues confronting their clients and on the ways these practitioners can work more effectively with various federal and state agencies to help their clients.

Written by the premier authority on elder law in New York, this is an important source book with a winning combination of practical and technical legal information ... It puts a powerful tool in the hands of the practitioner. -- Daniel G. Fish, President, National Academy of Elder Law Attorneys About the Author Sadin Institute on Law Public Policy of the Brookdale Center for Healthy Aging and Longevity, Hunter College/City University of New York has been in operation since 1977 as a legal support system for advocates who serve the elderly.
