Frank-Bernd Weigand : Practitioner's Handbook on International Commercial Arbitration before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Practitioner's Handbook on International Commercial Arbitration:

0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. One of the best, the best of one-volume, handbooks of arbitrationBy andrzej wisniewskiIt is an excellent book; I always considered the 1st edition probably the most exhaustive, reliable and ordered collection of important info. on arbitration for practitioner or academic researcher anywhere to be found in one volume. My copy literally falls apart after ten years of intensive use.This edition keeps the level. A tip for the editor: please consider adding, in the next edition, two or three chapters dealing specifically, on comparative basis, with problems which at that time will be the most hotly discussed in the arbitration milieu.

The Practitioner's Handbook on International Commercial Arbitration provides concise country reports on important jurisdictions for international arbitral proceedings, as well as commentaries on well-known arbitration rules which are frequently incorporated in international legal agreements. Most international commercial contracts now include an arbitration clause as an alternative to resolving disputes in the state courts. This second edition of the Practitioner's Handbook includes newly updated country chapters, expanded international coverage and commentary on the most important arbitration rules worldwide. It is written by world-leading arbitration practitioners and academics and combines a practical approach with in-depth legal research and analysis of important national and international case law. The book is unique in its coverage, providing uniformly designed country reports and thorough commentaries on internationally recognized arbitration rules in just one volume. There are individual chapters for the following countries: Austria, Belgium, China, England, France, Germany, Italy, Netherlands, Singapore, Sweden, Switzerland, USA. Each country report covers: jurisdiction, the tribunal, arbitration procedure, the award, amendments and challenge to the award, liability of arbitrators and enforcement of national awards; and provides details of national arbitration laws, arbitral institutions in the jurisdiction, model arbitration clauses and a bibliography, including a list of key judicial decisions. The first edition was reviewed as "an outstanding book" and "an extremely useful tool". The work is an indispensable one-stop reference point for lawyers drafting international arbitration clauses or handling arbitration proceedings in different countries.

A concise general introduction into the law of International arbitration is - in a nutshell - hidden in the handbook here...Already the first edition of the handbook had passed its market test. There can be hardly any doubt that this second edition all the more, will stand its market ground. The advantages this handbook offers are obvious. Concise, short descriptions of the relevant problems and their solutions are fitted with ample references to other, more detailed sources. The editor deserves congratulations to have been able to gather such a large group of renowned practitioners and scholars and succeed in persuading them to deliver their manuscripts in time. * Otto Sandrock, Yearbook on International Arbitration * This book is a significant contribution to international commercial arbitration * Dr Saleem Sheikh, International Company and Commercial Law * About the Author Frank-Bernd Weigand is a partner in his law firm Skorczyk Weigand, Rechtsanwälte, at which he concentrates on national and international arbitration. In addition, he has taught international arbitration at the renowned Bucerius Law School. After first practising at a Munich law firm, Dr Weigand joined ESSO Germany's legal department in Hamburg and engaged in the then largest ICC arbitration proceeding, dealing with the exploration and production of natural gas. He then joined Marquard Bahls, at which he built up its new legal department. In 2004, he was appointed president of the Hamburg Arbitration Circle, of which he is a founder. He is also a member of various arbitration associations, including the LCIA and the IBA committee on dispute resolution. Frank-Bernd Weigand holds an LL.M. in international business law and a Doctor Juris on international procedural law.
