Erwin Chemerinsky : Professional Responsibility, (Law School Legends Audio Series) before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Professional Responsibility, (Law School Legends Audio Series):

4 of 4 people found the following review helpful. Chemerinsky is terrible! By T. Feledy This previously recorded BarBri lecture is "legendary" only in its embarrassingly poor quality. It consists mostly of Chemerinsky's verbatim reading and re-reading of every sentence and topic heading of an included 21-page outline - all in a vocal style generally used for reading to young children. Although this is a "2007 edition" of the CD's, coverage of some areas, such as imputed disqualification, plainly misstate the ABA Model Rules upon which the lecture is based. I have never heard a lecture this bad. How a Con Law professor of his stature could cause something like this to be publicly sold is beyond me. I sent it back almost immediately. 5 of 5 people found the following review helpful. Wish it was speechless... By Edward J. Barton The material is fine - if you are into having the outline read to you. Unfortunately there is little in the way of original insight from the prof, and the audio is like nails on a chalkboard. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Useful for its intended purpose By CTitus The material is relevant to the subject that it is intended to describe. For those of us that are auditory learners and have long commutes and want to pick up material on the drive, this is an adequate utility. It would be impossible to doze with the less than mellifluous oration that is a verbatim reading, from the printable outline contained on the included CD. Professor Chemerinsky's voice leaves such an impression that I could hear its echoes as I was taking the test - to that I am grateful as I passed the exam and am one step closer to becoming a lawyer.
