Deborah Hutchison, Lynn Toler : Put It in Writing!: Creating Agreements Between Family and Friends before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Put It in Writing!: Creating Agreements Between Family and Friends:

Two media-savvy authorsLynn Toler, Judge of TV's Divorce Court, and Deborah Hutchison, creator of the award-winning Bill Your Ex systemoffer concrete, conflict-free solutions to the difficult situations that arise between family and friends.Did you ever lose a friend over an unpaid debt? Get stuck with a houseguest who has no intention of moving out? Quarrel with a relative over use of the family car? For those who follow Toler and Hutchisons wise counsel, these common disputes need never happen. Through dozens of true stories, they show how putting it in writingcreating a clear written agreementprevents the kinds of bitter misunderstandings that can destroy relationships and devastate families. Here's detailed advice on how to choose the right words and enforce them, too. To make it really easy, they provide perforated forms with model agreements for lending money or property, adult children moving home, sharing a pet, taking care of aging parents, and more.
